GET TO KNOW MICHELLE CUSUMANO, FNP-C

Encouraged in her lifelong love of science by her father, who was her science teacher in junior high, Michelle always took a special interest in medical science. After attaining an undergraduate degree in Health and Exercise Science, Michelle spent several years raising her children. Her children eventually encouraged her to return to school to pursue her dream of a medical career.

Michelle began her nursing education by earning her RN, BSN from the University of Saint Mary. She went on to acquire a Master of Science in nursing from the same institution.

In discussing her role at Amberwell, Michelle characterizes her position at Amberwell Eighth Street Clinic as “one of the best things that ever happened to her.” She is grateful for the opportunity to care for patients of the neighborhood-style primary care clinic.

Michelle currently lives in Olathe, with her husband, two of her children (the others are adults) and a pet dove they call Baxter. Michelle and her husband find rural Kansas beautiful. They have discussed someday owning a piece of property and having an aviary.
